The committee is spending considerable time in order to choose an architect for the new proposed addition to the church which will be used mainly as an addition for church school rooms and recreation facilities.

Meetings have been scheduled with Staben and Hooper of Waukegan and with the firm of Ekstrand and Schad, also of Waukegan for Saturday and Sunday of this week. Architects from Chicago and Wisconsin are waiting for interviews with the building committee.

Antioch Township Polio Cases Reported Improved

Warren Wells, who was stricken with poliomyelitis recently at his home on Rte. 173, east of the village, is making satisfactory progress in his recovery at St. Therese hospital. His lower spine is affected and it is difficult for him to stoop. For this, the Sister Kenney treatment is being used. His arms and legs are unaffected and he is able to stand. He was unaware that his back was affected until he got on his feet Tuesday.

Jack and Marcella, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dorsey, at the same hospital, are up and around and nearly recovered from their attack of polio.

The youngest child, Eugene, was the worst affected, and he is now able to stand, but much more time will be needed for his recovery. He likewise is being given the Kenney treatment.

Gun Club Jamboree Set for Friday Eve'g

King Jaros and his ten-piece orchestra will furnish the music and entertainment at the first annual Antioch Gun Club dance and party, to be held Friday evening at the Norshore Gardens, Lake Catherine. The Jamboree, which will be entirely informal in nature, will start at nine o'clock, and continue until the wee hours of the morning. Special entertainment has been arranged for, and refreshments of all kinds will be served.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Yuletide Happiness for Veterans in Hospitals

The American Legion auxiliary of Antioch is joining with other auxiliaries in the state in supplying volunteer rehabilitation workers who will attempt to offset the Yuletide homesickness experienced by the thousands of veterans in hospitals throughout the nation, according to Mrs. Floyd Horton, president.

According to Mrs. John Horan, Sr., unit rehabilitation chairman, the Auxiliary will again set up the Christmas gift shops in hospitals where disabled veterans with little or no funds, may select gifts for their families.

Patients able to leave their beds have the privilege of selecting gifts from the shop shelves. For the many bed patients hospital carts loaded with gifts are taken to their bedsides for them to make their selection. Auxiliary volunteer workers operate the shop, gift wrap and mail the packages.

There are ten such shops in Illinois hospitals, last year operated at a cost of $4,282.13.

Mrs. Horan and her committee, are working with Antioch Legion Post 748, in securing "Gifts for Yanks Who Gave". The Auxiliary will again, as in the past years, lend a hand in collecting and distributing the gifts.

The Legion's objective is to remember every veteran in the 43 Illinois hospitals which means 14,000 gifts. The public is invited to help bring this Christmas cheer to hospitalized veterans in Illinois either by purchasing gifts or by taking a five dollar membership in the "Christmas Gift Club for Yanks Who Gave".

Morris F. Verkest, Antioch Legion Post chairman, announces gifts may be left at the Darnaby Shoe store or call Mrs. Horan at 645-J or Ed Jahnke, post commander at 147-J.

Mrs. Ernest Duckett, Chicago, State rehabilitation chairman for the Auxiliary, tells of another antidote for homesickness that has proven very successful when tried out by the Auxiliary on scores of America's hospitalized veterans, during the year.

It is home movies and voice recordings which stimulates such a degree of surprise and pleasure when the patient hears the familiar voices of his family and sees the face of his loved ones flashed on a bedside screen, and the resultant improvement in the patient has been so marked, that the Auxiliary plans to expand this service to as great an extent as possible.

The members of Antioch Unit are still collecting old gold and silver eye glass frames for the Auxiliary Transportation fund to be used by needy disabled veterans and their dependents. This fund is used to move veterans to a more beneficial climate.

Mrs. Horan is in charge and may be reached at Antioch 645-J.

Mrs. Lucy Himens, in charge of the sale of Craft shop articles made by veterans invites everyone interested in helping handicapped men and women to be self-supporting to contact her for a list of the articles that may be purchased from the Veterans Craft Exchange. Mrs. Himens has a fine selection of articles on hand at all times and gladly will shop for any one making a selection from her list. Mrs. Himens may be reached in the evenings at 155-W-2.

Antioch Nips Wauconda In Hard Fought Game; To Play Grant Friday

Papooses Beat Wauconda By Same Score 33 to 27; Palatine Wins

After starting the basketball season with a bad loss to Palatine, Antioch High school rebounded to a 33 to 27 victory over Wauconda high there Tuesday night.

The underclassmen won from the Wauconda underclassmen by exactly the same score.

The Sequoits led the Wauconda team by the score of 16 to 15 but Wauconda took the lead in the third quarter and it was only through a last quarter spurt that Antioch won.

The defeat of Wauconda was significant in view of that team's defeat of Grayslake there last week 40 to 30.

Antioch will go to Ingleside tomorrow night to play Grant Township. The Bulldogs were defeated by Barrington at Ingleside Tuesday night by the lopsided score of 77 to 24. The Bronchos, last year's champions of the Northwest conference, continued their fast pace.

Ela defeated Bensenville 37 to 35.

Antioch's defeat last week by Palatine was by the score of 55 to 29. Palatine led at the half 28 to 15 and casted the rest of the way. Klein scored 10 field goals for the visitors.

The result of Tuesday's game was:

Two School Conferences Meet at Barrington, Ill.

A preliminary conference looking to a possible re-alignment of membership in the Northwest and North Suburban high school conferences was held yesterday at the Barrington high school.

Nineteen principals and superintendents were present.

No action was taken, but the ideas expressed will be carried into the next meeting of those conferences with the view to jelling the opinions for some kind of action before the end of the school year.

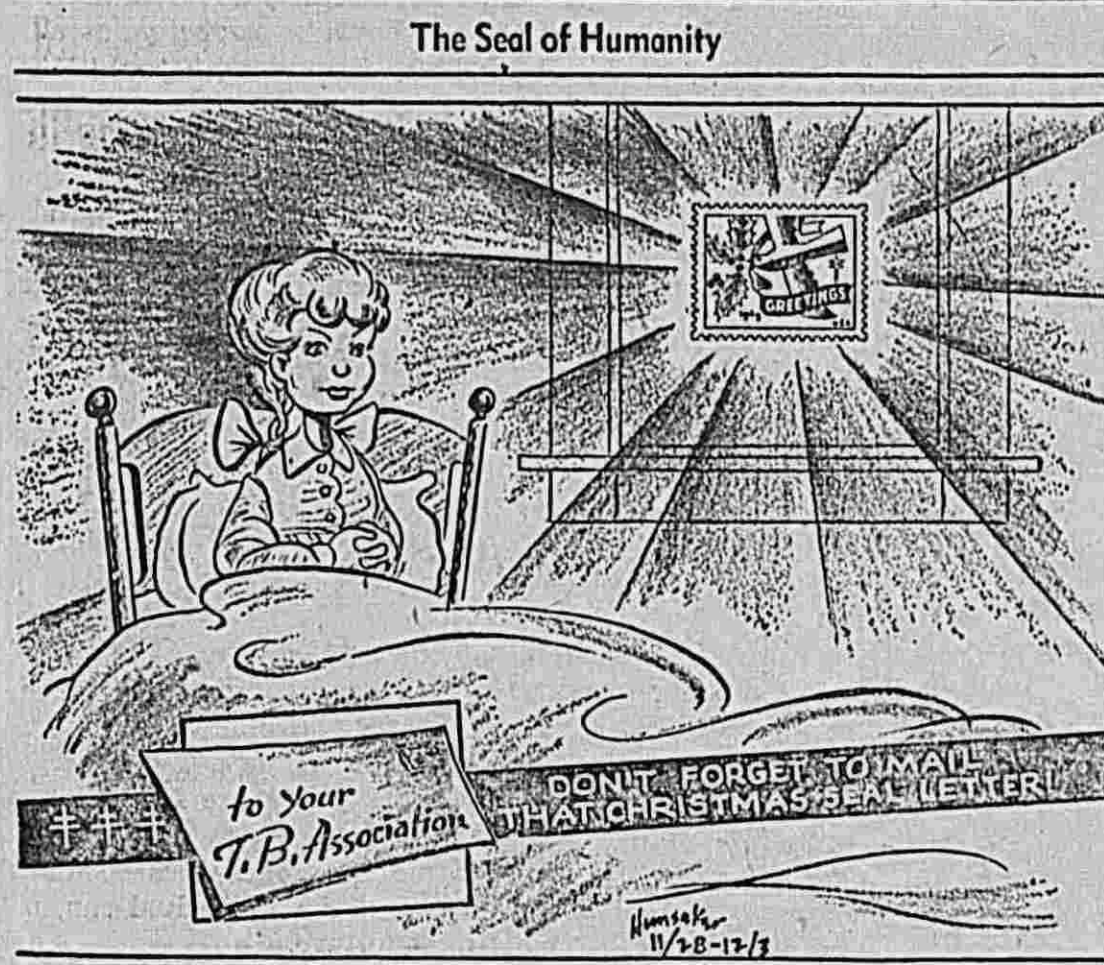

There was indication that the Northwest conference has one or two schools so large that they belong in the North Suburban conference, and that conference has one school too small for competition in that group.

Christmas Seal Sale Nets $3,699.00 During First Week of Campaign

Residents of Lake County contributed a total of $3,699.30 during first week of the 1949 Christmas Seal Sale, and returns are continuing to come in as the second week of the campaign gets under way, Mrs. Gerard Fossland, county seal sale chairman, reported today.

The annual seal sale, which will continue until December 25, is the only appeal made by the Lake County Tuberculosis Association for funds to support its tuberculosis prevention and control program which includes tuberculin testing in the schools, chest x-ray surveys in industries and communities, a chest clinic, nursing service and health education.

"Although the campaign will continue until Christmas Day, we greatly appreciate having returns made promptly," Mrs. Fossland said. Early returns, before the heavy rush of Christmas mail, place less of a burden on the post office. And they encourage the association in belief that it will be able to put its plan for an expanded program of tuberculosis prevention and control into effect in the new year.

Strainer for Big Well Installed Today; Plans Call for Pumping Soon

The strainer for the large village well arrived yesterday and is being installed today ready for the attachment of a new pump.

Supt. Walter I. Scott said that an attempt would be made to have the pump in operation this weekend, but the exact time would depend on the progress of the installation of the strainer, and it might be Monday or Tuesday before the work will be completed.

The strainer is eight feet long and has a diameter of 6 inches. It is sunk in a 10-inch casing and keeps out foreign matter from the water.

Scott said it would probably take a half day of pumping to clear the water ready for the mains. He said he thought the sand and gravel at the bottom of the 265 foot well must have been especially clean otherwise it would have showed up through the old strainer which was in bad condition.

The company supplying the pump has agreed to rush it here as soon as the strainer is installed and its attachment will be a matter of a few hours.

The Most Dangerous Tree

What is the most dangerous tree in the world? According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, it's that symbol of Yuletide cheer and good will—the Christmas tree. And the long and tragic record of deaths, injuries and maimings—many to children—caused by holiday fires fully bears out that statement.

This certainly doesn't mean that you should not have a Christmas tree. You should. But it does mean that certain elementary precautions should be followed to the letter, and kept constantly in mind.

It is recommended, for instance, that you buy a small tree—it is less hazardous. It should be placed well away from radiators, heaters, and the fireplace. Candles should never be used on the tree under any circumstances. Use electric light sets which carry the seal of approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories—it guarantees that the sets meet the proper safety standards.

Don't use paper, cotton or other inflammable materials for decoration. If extension cords are necessary, be sure they're in good condition—frayed wiring is a potent cause of electrical fires. Never leave the lights burning when the house is unoccupied. Dispose of gift wrappings promptly—they're a real menace inside the house. Be especially careful with matches and smoking materials. And, finally, get rid of your tree as soon as the needles begin to fall. That means it's dry and ready to burst into flame.

Christmas isn't far off. It's time now to make plans for a holiday season which will be safe as well as joyous. And once they're made, stick to them.

Where's That Power Shortage?

Remember when, not so long ago, government officials were saying with a parrot-like unanimity that a major electric power shortage was in the offing, and that the only way to avoid disaster was to spend billions for more tax-subsidized power projects?

Now, according to an Associated Press dispatch, "for the first time in three years the nation's privately-owned electric companies are ready for winter with prospects of a comfortable supply of power."

The story is told in a survey made by the Edison Electric Institute. During the December peak load period, the industry expects to have a reserve generating capacity of more than 11 per cent, as contrasted with a slim 5.9 per cent reserve last year at the same time. By the end of 1949, generating capacity installations are proceeding in accordance with ambitious schedules.

Moreover, no power curtailment is in effect or is expected anywhere in the country—save for the Pacific Northwest. There, extreme low river flow has cut into the output. In addition, the increasing domination of the region by tax-exempt Federal power projects has discouraged and prevented normal expansion by the private utilities. Socialism has actually caused a shortage.

All in all, the electric industry has proven that free enterprise can meet our needs, even under difficult conditions. It has answered, with its achievements, the baseless arguments of those who think government must do everything.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I been reading where towns here and there have had tough sleddin' with their Community Chest. And being a kind of inquisitive hombre, I been trying to deduct how-come. It it not because folks think the Boy Scouts, and the Salvation Army, or the Girl Scouts, etc., don't need so much money—it is because the Chest is the one place where an individual can, if he must, pull in on his expenditure.

You have no control over how much the Income Tax Man removes from your private exchequer, and which is doled out in places far beyond your horizon—doled out on a lavish Govt. payroll 2 times too big—doled out on experiments in price floors and ceilings—doled out on wasted, meaningless but high sounding palaver like Human Rights—doled out on Govt. dams and power stations that pay no taxes but which lost taxes you make up.

Looks kinda gloomy, don't it, says Henry. Well, yes and no, I says. It looks gloomy if we sit around mum. But it looks completely vice versa and even half-way rosy if each person—including everybody working on the Community Chest—would unlimber his ball-point pen, buckle on his 6 shooter and go to work on his congressman.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Don't Let Anybody Fool You!

These Things Will Happen If The Anti-Trust Lawyers Have Their Way

When the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed their suit against A&P, we told the American people, our customers, our suppliers and our employees how this attack would affect them.

We said that this attack, if successful, would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

We said that it would mean higher food prices for American consumers.

We said that if they succeed in destroying A&P the way would be cleared for the destruction of other efficient large-scale retailers.

We thought the American people were entitled to know about this threat to their welfare and standard of living.

Since that time, however, the anti-trust lawyers have been making speeches, talking over the radio, writing letters and giving stories to the newspapers, in which they say we are all wrong.

They say that this suit will not close a single A&P store; and that instead of raising food prices it will lower them.

And they have tried to give the impression that nobody will be hurt by this decision except the present owners of A&P.

We don't think that the American people want to be confused by these statements. We know that when they have the facts, they will understand that this case can affect the living standards and the way of life of every American citizen.

Here are the facts:

It Will Destroy A&P

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that "the suit will not result in the closing of a single A&P store", and that "the purpose of the suit is to enjoin A&P from continuing activity which has been held to violate the law."

The fact is that the suit is designed not only to "enjoin" A&P from alleged illegal activities, but actually to destroy the company.

Here is what they have asked the court to do:

Break up A&P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management.

Order us to sell A&P's factories, which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners.

Prevent any of the seven groups of stores from operating any of the factories.

None of the present owners, who have made A&P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories.

The first A&P store was opened 90 years ago. For the past 50 years the company has been managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford.

These are the men who have pioneered the policy of low-cost, low-profit, low-price food retailing which has won A&P the patronage of millions of American families and given them more good food for their money.

If the anti-trust lawyers have their way, these men and other company executives will be completely out of the picture. No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A&P will be.

No one can predict that they will sell the same quality food at the same low prices, or that they will keep the same employees, or give them the same high wages, short hours, pensions and security.

Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statement, can anyone tell how many A&P stores will remain open or will be closed.

So, while there may be a food store where your A&P is now located, it won't be your A&P store.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit it will mean the end of A&P as you know it.

Your Food Will Cost More

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that the suit will not increase, but should decrease, grocery prices.

Anybody who has ever shopped in an A&P store, or has ever taken a high-school course in economics, knows better than that.

Everyone knows that A&P's policy has always been to keep costs and profits at a minimum so that it can sell good food cheap.

The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A&P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors.

How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?

Actually, there is no question that this suit, if successful, will mean higher food prices for A&P customers.

Here is just one of a number of reasons:

We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight O'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

The anti-trust lawyers admit that we pass along these manufacturing savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

But, the anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

This means that if these A&P brands continued to be manufactured, you would have to pay higher prices for them wherever you found them.

The anti-trust lawyers say that food prices would go down in other stores. They claim that food manufacturers would be able to sell cheaper to other grocers because they would not have to make up alleged losses they now incur in selling to A&P.

This, of course, is pure nonsense. The suppliers who voluntarily seek our business and are now rushing to our defense obviously find it profitable to deal with A&P. Actually, their sales to this company enable them to build up their volume, reduce their costs, and sell more cheaply to all grocers.

The elimination of A&P from the picture would tend to increase, rather than decrease, the wholesale cost of food; and this, in turn, will be reflected in increases in retail prices.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

Others Will Be Hurt

The anti-trust lawyers have insisted that this suit will not affect other distributors, "nor will it destroy any efficiencies of mass distribution."

The fact is that the anti-trust lawyers ask the court to break up the company, make it get rid of its admittedly legal manufacturing operations and in general destroy many of the efficiencies which have enabled it to sell food cheaper.

If such an attack is successful, it immediately raises the likelihood of similar attacks on other chain stores.

The anti-trust lawyers are saying that they "do not contemplate any other suits of this nature at this time."

But that does not mean that they cannot undertake such suits at any future time if they win this case.

As a matter of fact, the anti-trust lawyers made practically the same allegations against two of our largest competitors that they are making against us. And it can also be used as the basis for an attack against other grocers and merchants in other lines.

There are today literally thousands of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If A&P is destroyed, no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor.

Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A&P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply, and grows big in the process.

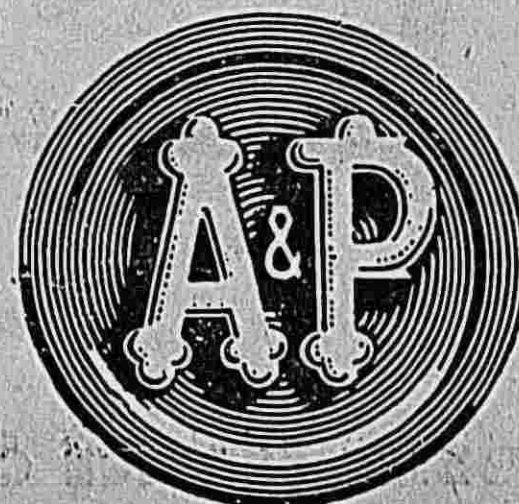

Such a decision would mean the end of the vigorous, healthy price competition which has given this country the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any people anywhere in the history of the world.

The anti-trust lawyers are trying to give a new interpretation to the anti-trust laws that, instead of preserving competition, will reduce competition.

They are trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country.

Make no mistake about it. If they succeed in destroying A&P they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped make the American standard of living the envy of the world.

Many Fall Prey To Gold Lure Found in Maps

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—Those "authentic maps" of the legendary Lost Dutchman gold mine are in season again.

The way the story goes, millions of dollars in gold await the fortunate person solving the mystery of the location of the long lost mine in the rugged Superstition mountains.

The range is located in Maricopa and Pinal counties of Arizona.

Legend says the Lost Dutchman produced untold wealth for a Spanish family named Peralta and later for Jacob Walz, popularly known as "Snowbeard, the Dutchman."

The Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, backed by the sheriffs of the two counties, believes the production and sale of these "authentic maps" is a big business for someone.

Happens Every Summer

During recent decades the sale of maps has brought a far greater return than has the mine.

Every summer, chamber officials report, they receive letters reading like this:

"I have come into possession of an old map showing the location of the Lost Dutchman mine. Can you please send me information on how to outfit an expedition?"

Sheriffs Lynn Earley of Pinal and Cal Boies of Maricopa urge extreme caution on the part of the would-be fortune hunters. They estimate almost 20 persons have lost their lives in the barren Superstitions.

Both advise prospective map buyers and those who believe they hold the key to the treasure to use extreme care and caution in accepting the validity of maps and in attempting to explore the mountain fastnesses.

They have issued a joint statement of warning:

"No one should attempt to enter the Superstitions between the months of May and November. In most years there is no water available in the mountains and death from thirst is a definite possibility.

"Any accidental injuries in the mountains might be fatal, and the rugged nature of the terrain makes any exploration extremely hazardous even under ideal conditions."

Asked to Register

Well aware, however, that adventurous prospectors will continue to enter the mountains, the sheriffs have asked members of all such parties to register with them before setting out.

"Hire a competent guide and carry provisions and water for the contemplated stay," they advise.

The story of the Lost Dutchman remains a favorite tale around Arizona campfires.

According to the old legend, the Peralta brothers, Spanish prospectors, discovered rich deposits of gold in the Superstition mountains. They worked the claims for several years before raiding Apache Indians forced them out.

Primitive ore grinders found in the mountains are believed those of the Peraltas.

Later Jacob Walz, the Dutchman, was credited with finding rich ore deposits. He died in Phoenix in 1892 without divulging his secret.

Uranium Discovery Prize Spurs Prospector Army

CHICAGO.—With the atomic energy commission offering $10,000 rewards for each acceptable discovery of uranium deposits, a growing army of amateur prospectors annually is buying more than $200,000 worth of a new-type Geiger counter designed to aid them in their search for the deposits, it was learned yesterday.

The instrument, called a nuclear "sniffer," weighs 2 pounds, can be carried in a coat pocket and generates 1,200 volts from two flashlight batteries. In the presence of uranium and other radioactive substances the counter emits clicks through a telephone head set.

Four young Chicago scientists developed the counter. John Kuranz, 27 years old, a physicist and vice president of the Nuclear Instrument and Chemical Corporation of Chicago, which the scientists have built into a million-dollar yearly business, said the counter was being distributed through large department stores.

Scientist Says Children Not Taught How to Listen

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—Although children spend most of their time in school listening, few teachers ever have bothered to teach the science of constructive listening, one educator says.

As a result, Dr. Miriam E. Wilt said, "many children half listen or daydream through the day's activities."

Dr. Wilt, of Pennsylvania state college, advocates classes in listening. She said it is inherent in almost every classroom activity, and as such, should be taught.

"The effectiveness of the teaching of listening," she said, "can be measured in terms of new learnings, better adjustment to environment, personal pleasure, and satisfaction and behavior."

SHORT STORY

Fortune Smiles

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

CALEB WARE was a young man who quarreled with his father, and was turned away from his boyhood home. Caleb always said later that he went away of his own accord.

Fortune smiled on Caleb. Five years later he found himself prominent in the affairs of the small city in which he had chosen to live. Moreover, he was rich.

It was then that Caleb decided to go home. As the train began to climb into the fresh, clean air of the mountain country, the tired look about his eyes vanished. Color appeared in his cheeks.

It thrilled him now to know that he was in a position to provide his father with all the comforts of old age.

He swung from the train at the tiny depot. Everything was the same; the cracker-box station, the general store, the postoffice and the few small dwelling houses.

A man with side whiskers and spectacles peered at him from the doorway of the depot.

"Hello, Banty. Where's your rig?"

The man stepped through the door. "Caleb Ware! Know yuh anywhere! How be yuh, Caleb?"

"Fine, Banty. And you?"

"To'able, Caleb. Just to'able. Figure on goin' out to the farm? Drive you out if you say so."

"Figured you would." He climbed into Banty's ancient rig, glad of this opportunity to ride with the station master and learn the news.

"Looks like you done quite well in the city," Banty suggested cautiously.

"Not bad," Caleb agreed. And he knew that feeling of triumph and victory at his success. He thought of his father's surprise and disappointment. It would be a bitter pill for old man Ware to swallow.

"How are things at the farm, Banty? How's dad?"

"Your dad's ailin'," said Banty. "He ain't been right since you left five years ago."

"Me left him? Why he turned me out!"

"Don't make no difference. You shouldn't a done it. He needed you at the farm. The place is plumb run down, and your dad ain't well."

Caleb felt suddenly that Banty was condemning him, that everyone in the village had condemned him.

"Dad isn't really bad, is he, too sick to work?" he asked.

"He is now. A month ago he was took bad. Ain't worked since." Banty spat and glanced at him sideways. "He won't be glad to see you, son, not like that. He's got too much pride."

CALEB UNDERSTOOD. He knew that his father would never take succor from a son who had deserted him, would never admit he needed the help of a traitor. He'd rather die starving than that.

Banty might have said more, but Caleb suddenly leaped from the slow moving buggy.

"You just keep on going, Banty, and forget you ever saw me. Dad need never know but what I come home because I had to."

Caleb plunged into the woods beside the road and discarded his coat and undid his necktie. He walked for some distance through the heavy growth beside the highway. Branches tore at his fine linen and ripped great gashes. Briars clutched at his trousers and tore holes in them.

"Caleb Ware! Know yuh anywhere! How be yuh, Caleb?"

Thus Caleb came home. Slight of the farm gave him a pang. The house and grounds were run down and in need of repair. A cot had been placed on the rear porch and on this cot Caleb saw the thin, gaunt figure of his father. He came and stood over the figure and looked down at it and smiled.

"Hello, Father," he said. "It's Caleb. I've come home to ask your forgiveness and to be taken in." His voice was humble.

Old man Ware opened his eyes and looked up at his son, and there was a quick happiness in his expression. His dimming vision saw the tousled, ragged farm boy who had stalked so proudly away five years before.

"I knew you'd come back, Caleb. I knew you'd come to your old father for help sooner or later. And—and I'm glad."

Adjectives flock into mind—"agile"—"nimble"—"eager."

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN COMMUNION WITH OTHER APOSTOLIC CHURCHES

It is not commonly known that the Anglican Church, of which the American Episcopal Church is a branch, is in Communion with many other Apostolic churches; churches which have apostolic bishops. These include the Eastern Orthodox Catholic churches, with which the Episcopal church is in "limited Communion," the Polish National Catholic Church, with which the Episcopal church is in full Communion; as well as the Old Catholic churches in the Netherlands and Germany, and the Philippine National Independent Church.

Also, of special interest to native born Swedes and Finns, the Episcopal church is in Communion with the churches of Sweden and Finland. If a person of Swedish or Finnish birth has been confirmed in the old country by a Bishop of one of these Churches, he can receive the Holy Communion and other Sacraments of the Episcopal church, and become a member of a local Episcopal parish church without having to be re-confirmed.

Antioch Girl Reigns At Order of Rainbow Ball in Morrison Hotel

Betty Jean McDougall was crowned queen of the Rainbow Rapsody ball given in the Mural room of the Morrison hotel in Chicago last Friday night by the Order of the Rainbow for Girls.

Five hundred girls and their escorts were present.

Miss McDougall was crowned by the grand worthy advisor, June Hunter, another Antioch girl, and her escort Robert Thompson. The queen's escort was George Reardon of Antioch.

The crowning at the throne was the signal for the beginning of the grand march and dancing.

As each Rainbow girl entered the ball she placed her name on a card and from these cards the name of one was chosen to reign. Successive ones were her court attendants and these honors went to Joan Ball, Neenah, Wis., and Patricia Boettner, of 4310 N. Richmond St., Chicago.

Those attending from Antioch were Jane Hunter and her escort, Kennedy Heuer, Betty Perry and Robert Kufalk, Verna Kufalk and Robert Wilton, Beverly Lasco and Preston Reckers, Johanna Cobb and Richard Thompson, and the principals, June Hunter and Robert Thompson, and Betty Jean McDougall and George Reardon.

Nov. 29, 1949

Dear Mrs. Gaston:
I am writing a few lines which I would extremely appreciate if you would give it space in your paper, so all my friends would be sure to read same. It was impossible to say, so long for now to all of them, but here are my "well wishes."

Time is the flame that continues to burn at the candle of Life. The deeper down the flame, the more conscious one becomes of the nearness of the end.

Glimpsing backward along the trail traveled, our mind's eye sees, in indelible imprint, the grand afterglow and reflection of True and Sincere Friendships that have so wonderfully warmed the way.

Wherever we may wander or roam, Antioch will always remain our sentimental home. We gratefully acknowledge our many friendships which have meant so much to us in smoothing life's road and lightening its load.

For thirty years of Friendship. Our sincerest regards and thanks as some one said. We'd love a place in the scrap-book folks keep in the sitting room.

SHORT STORY

Baying
The Moon

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THE ALPHA, Alpha, Alpha, Alpha fraternity at Boynton university is responsible for the fate of Percival Oakes. It happened this way.

During his freshman year the AAAA's pledged Percy to membership and initiated him into the mystic three R's. (Rites, Rituals and Regulations.) Percy took it like a man. When ordered to imitate a dog howling at the moon, he did his level best. The result was astonishingly successful. Percy surprised even himself.

The brother AAAA's cheered loudly and clamored for encores. Percy obliged a second time and a third. He was immensely pleased with the applause and at the attention he attracted.

The next day, en route to class, Percy was stopped by a grave-faced sophomore and asked to give him imitation of a dog howling at the moon. For a moment he hesitated, conscious of a circle of grinning faces that had silently formed about him, faintly resentful of the fact that the brothers of the AAAA had made public the discovery of his hidden genius. He glanced once more into the grave face of the youth who had accosted him and then threw back his head and bayed lustily.

A mighty roar of applause greeted the rendition. There were cries of "More!" "More!" Percival obliged a second time and then once more.

Returning to college in the fall, Percy had completely put from his mind the cause and fact of his last year's popularity. There were other and more important things to occupy his interest. He was now a sophomore, with all the rights and liberties and sensations of importance that are synonymous with that lofty position. Best of all, he was now unhampered by the 30-odd freshmen rules that had last year cramped his activities.

One sophomore caused Percy's brain to swim. Here was loveliness and intelligence and femininity all combined. Unhappily, it took him a fortnight to negotiate an introduction. Her name was Della Winter, and she was as popular as she was beautiful. This was discouraging and disheartening. Percy could offer nothing; she had her pick of the college.

IT WAS one of the Saturday night informal dances at the college gym. They had been dancing together for perhaps 60 seconds when Della looked up at him and said: "Aren't you the boy who can imitate a dog howling at the moon?" Her eyes twinkled.

Percy reddened to the ears. He felt a chill, a horrible apprehension. "No," he bleated. "Not Whoever told you that is crazy!"

Della didn't press the subject, but Percy knew he was sunk. He let a month slip by before he could conjure enough courage to ask for a date, felt pitifully grateful when she assented.

Within the following month he kept five dates with Della but it was always the same; the "thing" was always there between them. He thought she must think him ridiculous. She pitied him.

During the intermission at the Dartmouth victory dance, Percy and Della strolled out onto the now dry ice-skating rink and sat down on the bulwark and looked up at the moon. Because of his great and hopeless love Percy was moody, unhappy, thoughtful. Suddenly he was startled by the petulant tone of his beloved.

He looked at the moon and from his throat there came . . . rich tones of a baying hound.

"I think it must be wonderful," she said.

"What must?" asked Percival.

"To be able to imitate things. I mean, anyone can play football, or learn to skate, or dance well, but it takes genius to be able to imitate things."

"Do you mean that?"

"Why, of course I do! I've always admired people who have creative ability. Genius. Of course I mean it!"

She looked squarely at him, and the last trace of doubt vanished from Percy's soul like mist from a river bed before a rising sun. He stood up, he threw back his head, he looked at the moon and from his throat there came the clear, deep, rich tones of a baying hound.

New 'Electric Brain'
Will Solve Problems,
Translate Tongues

LOS ANGELES.—A new type of "electric-brain" calculating machine, capable not only of performing complex mathematical problems, but even of translating foreign languages, is under construction at the U.S. bureau of standards laboratory at the University of California's Institute of numerical analysis here.

While the exact scope which the machine will be given in the translating field has not been decided, the scientists working on it say it would be quite possible to make it encompass all the 60,000 words in the Webster Collegiate Dictionary, with equivalents for each word in as many as three foreign languages. The machine, tentatively dubbed the "Zephyr," involves two basic advances in design over the previous "electric brains"—notably the Eniac, Edvac, and Univac machines.

Its "memory" for numbers and "commands" fed into it, instead of being based on vacuum tubes or containers of mercury in which electric impulses are stored, will be based on a cathode-ray tube of the same sort as is used in television. This will increase its scope and speed and greatly simplify its design.

This "short-term" memory will be supplemented by a magnetic drum, which is just an elaboration of the magnetized wire or tape now used for record broadcasts and other sounds.

It is on this drum that the machine's vocabulary can be stored. Words are converted into the same sort of electrical symbols by which the machine assimilates numbers for calculation.

When a foreign word for translation is fed into the machine in the form of an electro-mathematical symbol on a tape or a card, the machine will run through its "memory," and if it finds that symbol on record, will emit automatically a predetermined equivalent—the English word.

Russians Bring About Bar
To Proposed Hunt for Ark

LONDON.—Three explorers—accused by Moscow of being western spies—won't hunt for Noah's Ark on Mount Ararat, this year at least.

Egerton Sykes, leader of the British expedition to the mountain in Turkey near the Soviet frontier, said Turkish authorities refused permission for the journey.

He said Hans Roozen, a young Dutch explorer, also was refused. Sykes said Turkish authorities indicated the ban also would apply to explorer A. J. Smith, Greensboro, N. C.

Sykes said the Turkish embassy in London told him it was "instructed to confirm that the Turkish authorities find it impossible to grant permission for an expedition to Ararat."

Moscow radio said members of the expeditions really were going to Mount Ararat to spy on Russia.

Mare Exists for 45 Days
In Celler on Canned Fruit

LANSFORD, N. D.—The story of a mare that lived 45 days in a cellar on canned fruit and vegetables, while her owners wintered in Oregon, has come to light.

The four-year-old mare fell into the farmhouse cellar through an outside door. She was imprisoned during most of the time when snowstorms and blizzards raged here, just 20 miles from the Canadian border.

Missing since mid-January, she was found by Albert Mattern, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. George Browers, the owners. He heard a commotion in the cellar when he visited the farm. He led her out via the stairway and door she had entered.

He estimated the animal caused $500 damage.

She smashed all of about 500 quarts of canned fruits and vegetables. They were buried in straw, which provided roughage—and a bed.

She gnawed away at some poles with damaging effect.

And she lost about 200 pounds while she was on the semihuman diet.

Tenants Find $40,000 Cache
While Re-Decorating House

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Lucille Schader threw away a jar containing $500 in Mexican gold coins found in her father's house in Duquoin, Ill.

Later she was dazed by news that tenants in the house had found an estimated $40,000 worth of jewels, oil, and rail stocks and government bonds while redecorating.

Mrs. Schader said her father, Michael Bradley, 53, a coal miner, died March 28. She went to Duquoin to tidy up his house preparatory to renting it, found a jar containing "buttons," and threw it out.

Neighbors noticed the bottle and a bank identified the "buttons" as Mexican coins. They were placed in escrow.

Pete Is Only Pelican
Having Bill of Bamboo

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—A rare old bird is the pelican, but the rarest of all pelicans is Pete, the Mexican pelican with the bamboo bill.

Pete was just another pelican around the Todos Santos islands in Mexican waters south of San Diego. Then somebody took a shot at the friendly old bird, almost severing his upper bill near the middle.

Poor Pete could no longer dive for fish. His profile was ruined. Lady pelicans shunned him. He grew wan and thin. He was sick.

But along came the tuna clipper Resolute, skippered by Richard Strumpf of San Diego.

For a week Pete came alongside the Resolute every morning to be fed smelt caught for him by members of the crew. Then Strumpf brought Pete aboard. He fashioned a splint from a length of bamboo fishpole, drilled holes in both halves of the bill and wired Pete's profile firmly back in place.

Pete made the return trip to San Diego with the Resolute, but not without being seasick.

Now, however, he is well and chipper, the pride of the San Diego zoo's seabird pool.

On "The Bath"

To hunt to bathe, to play, to laugh—this is to live - was the old Roman motto

When Attila and the Huns came knocking at the door, the Roman army leader were too immersed in the bubble-bath to come out of the gods and fight. The early Christians would have no part of any Roman customs. They felt that no good ever came from lolling around in hot water. It was pagan and degenerate. The masses believed it more blessed to smel' than to bathe.

Isabella of Spain was proud and happy to say that he bathed in water only twice in her entire life. It is recorded that Columbus sailed soon after meeting Isabella. In England, according to a gossip sheet of Elizabeth's time, "The Queen hath built herself a bath, where she doth bathe herself once a month, whether she require it or not."

An excerpt from the memoirs of Mistress Alice, Thornton, a Yorkshire Dame in which she admits that as a girl she once took a foot-bath, "which she believed was the cause of a 'fit' the next day.

Our forefathers in America firmly believed that bathing was not only not respectable but it was downright sinful. Dolly Madison was the first Lady of the White House who had the nerve to install a portable tin tub—later to be jerked out by President Andrew Jackson who feared his voters would be offended by such an undemocratic gadget. In 1843 Philadelphia tried to prohibit all bathing between Nov. 1st and March 15th. Virginia slapped an annual tax of thirty dollars on each bath tub. Boston banned bathing except for medicinal purposes from 1845 to 1862. Other cities quadrupled water charges to bath tub owners. Benjamin Franklin was the first American to own a bath tub. The radicals who bathed once a year regarded the contraption as another of Mr. Franklin's eccentricities.

Julius Rosenwald—

Mall-order magnate and philanthropist Julius Rosenwald never had any great trouble with debtors. Whenever a bill was overdue, he would write to the debtor in this wise:

"Your bill is overdue. If not met, we shall be obliged to notify your other creditors that you paid us."

With but few exceptions, a check was usually forthcoming posthaste.

—Ray Freedman

Quibs—

A pessimist is like a blind man in a dark room looking for a black hat that isn't there.

All the joys of heaven and all the torments of the other place lie within the same circumference of a wedding ring.

Lady: "Well, doctor, was my operation a success?"

Man: "I'm not your doctor. I'm St. Peter!"

Ethics—

"Vot is ethics? Vell I will show you. Suppos a lady comes into the store buys a lot of goods and pays me ten dollars too much. Then ethics come in. Should I or should I not tell my partner?"

Household Hints—

WAXING. When you wax your floors, wax the feet of the furniture too. Then when the furniture is moved around it will not mar the floor.

To cut a pie in five pieces cut a big Y in the crust and then divide the two larger sections in half.

This Week's Quizzer—

How many squares in a checker board? Answer next week. Answer to last week's quizzer: What is the most useful plant in the world? Grass as it feeds our flocks and herds and us too—Wheat, barley, oats, rye, rice, millet, corn, and sugar cane are all grass.

Ocean Noises

Denizens of the sub-surface ocean are a pretty noisy lot. So noisy, in fact, that their shenanigans have caused inconvenience and extra work for science. During the war the U. S. navy developed an instrument for detecting submarine sounds. But when the device was tested, it picked up so many subterranean sounds that science had to "screen out" the noises of ocean creatures before the instrument could be effectively employed.

Worship of the Moon

Among ancient peoples of southern Arabia, the moon god was the supreme deity rather than the sun god so popular in other places. In these hot desert lands, where the sun's rays sear and burn by day, night offers the pleasant time for travel and toil. Hence worship of the moon grew up with the nomad's use of it to light their way and to figure time and dates by its phases.

U.S. Death Rate

The United States may have the highest standard of living in the world, but it also has one of the world's highest accidental death rates. The U.S. rate in 1948 was 67.1 deaths per 100,000 population, as compared with a world-wide post-war average death rate of 48.9, according to the National Safety Council. Only three countries topped the accidental death rate of the United States—Iceland, Egypt, and Austria.

"The Marseillaise"

Because soldiers of Marseille, marching into Paris to take part in the attack on the Tuilleries in 1792, sang Rouget de Lisle's battle song with such spirit and vigor, it became known as the "Marseillaise."

Conestoga Wagon

Wheelwrights in Pennsylvania's Lancaster county first used the Conestoga wagon around 1750. Farmers in the region used it to haul supplies, bring in grain harvests, and transport produce to markets. Originally intended to solve only local transportation problems, the wagon's sturdiness and capacity soon made it the nation's leading vehicle for overland travel.

Ladino Clover Seed

Ladino clover seed production in 1949 is the largest on record, with an estimated crop of 2,370,000 pounds of clean seed, as compared with 1,950,000 pounds in 1948 and 812,000 pounds for the average of 1943-47.

School Lunch Program

The national school lunch program, the cost of which is supported in part by state, federal and local sources, operates under federal law to bring balanced, nourishing meals to children all over the country.

Carotene

Carrots actually build up their supply of the valued food element, carotene, during winter storage, says the U.S. department of agriculture. Carotene is a food factor much wanted in the diet because it is the basic material from which vitamin A is formed.

Altai Mountains

The Altai mountains which help to form the northern boundary between China's Sinkiang province and Outer Mongolia derive their name from the rich gold deposits they hold. Altai is from a Mongol word for gold—thus the "Golden Mountains."

Big Gorilla Beaten By Panther Ruled Badly Outclassed

SPOKANE, WASH.—It was generally agreed that Barangu, a 312-pound gorilla, never had a chance in his two-hour death-struggle with a snarling 185-pound black panther.

Zoo authorities and the owner of the two animals expressed the opinion that despite the weight advantage, Barangu was fighting far out of his class.

In fact, according to witnesses, the gorilla passed the entire two hours seeking to ward off the savage onslaughts of the enraged panther.

More than 400 persons were virtually hypnotized by the death struggle in a cage at a Liberty Lake animal show. When the battle was ended, the gorilla lay dead, mercifully murdered by show attendants. Before the attendants shot Barangu, the panther had torn his arm off and inflicted numerous painful wounds.

It was probably the first time in history a gorilla had ever met a panther in mortal combat, according to Edward Johnson, Superintendent of the Woodland Park Zoo in Seattle.

The native habitat of the gorilla is Africa and the panther comes from Asia, he said.

Mrs. Ruby Smith, San Diego, one of the owners of the show, said that "Barangu was the loser from the beginning." The panther slashed at him with his claws and teeth while about all the gorilla could do was try to avoid him.

In Seattle, Johnson said gorillas are peace-loving animals who do not attack others unless attacked first. They are mainly vegetarians, he said.

Color Is Vital Point In Salesman Technique

NEW YORK—Here's a tip for those who would be successful salesmen or cooks. Woo your prospects with color.

So proclaims Howard Ketcham, an industrial design and color consultant, and he is talking to ladies who want to produce enjoyable meals as well as to businessmen who want to strike it rich.

"Color," says Ketcham, "has a powerful influence on the subconscious. We know that people everywhere like an atmosphere of mental ease and a sense of well-being. And color, when it is considered a part of and as important as design can achieve just this."

All sorts of experiments and surveys have proved Ketcham's claim. For instance, there was the cafeteria chain which wanted to improve its salad sales. Ketcham suggested replacing the usual white crockery with pale green plates. Sales went up over 100 per cent within a few days.

Flooding Texas Areas Get-Rich-Quick Plans

HOUSTON, TEX.—Canadian oil boom get-rich-quick schemes are moving across the international border by mail, telegraph and telephone.

Better business bureaus report receiving numerous complaints and inquiries on Canadian oil stock solicitations. Few are found to be legitimate. Few hold sound claims to oil leases, to say nothing of oil itself.

Predicted immediate investment returns range as high as $40 for each $1 sent across the border.

Mail order promotion of Canadian oil stocks flooded two Texas cities—Houston and Dallas—whose residents had their fill of bogus stocks in the old Texas boom days.

A Toronto, Canada, company mailed promotion literature and application blanks in wholesale fashion.

Commented C. Edward Buehner, manager of the Houston better business bureau:

"They seemed to have mailed to everyone in the city directory. Practically everyone in our office received the letters."

Mr. Buehner has accumulated a bulky file on fake Canadian stock promotions dating back to days when there was wild speculation on Canada's gold mines. The recent oil strike in Alberta province apparently has caused many of the mail order speculators to switch to oil.

Teacher Warns Against Educating Selfish Ones

RICHMOND, KY.—The president of the College of the Bible said here to increase the intellectual powers of a selfish person is to endanger freedom and menace peace.

Delivering the baccalaureate address at Eastern State College, Dr. Riley B. Montgomery said:

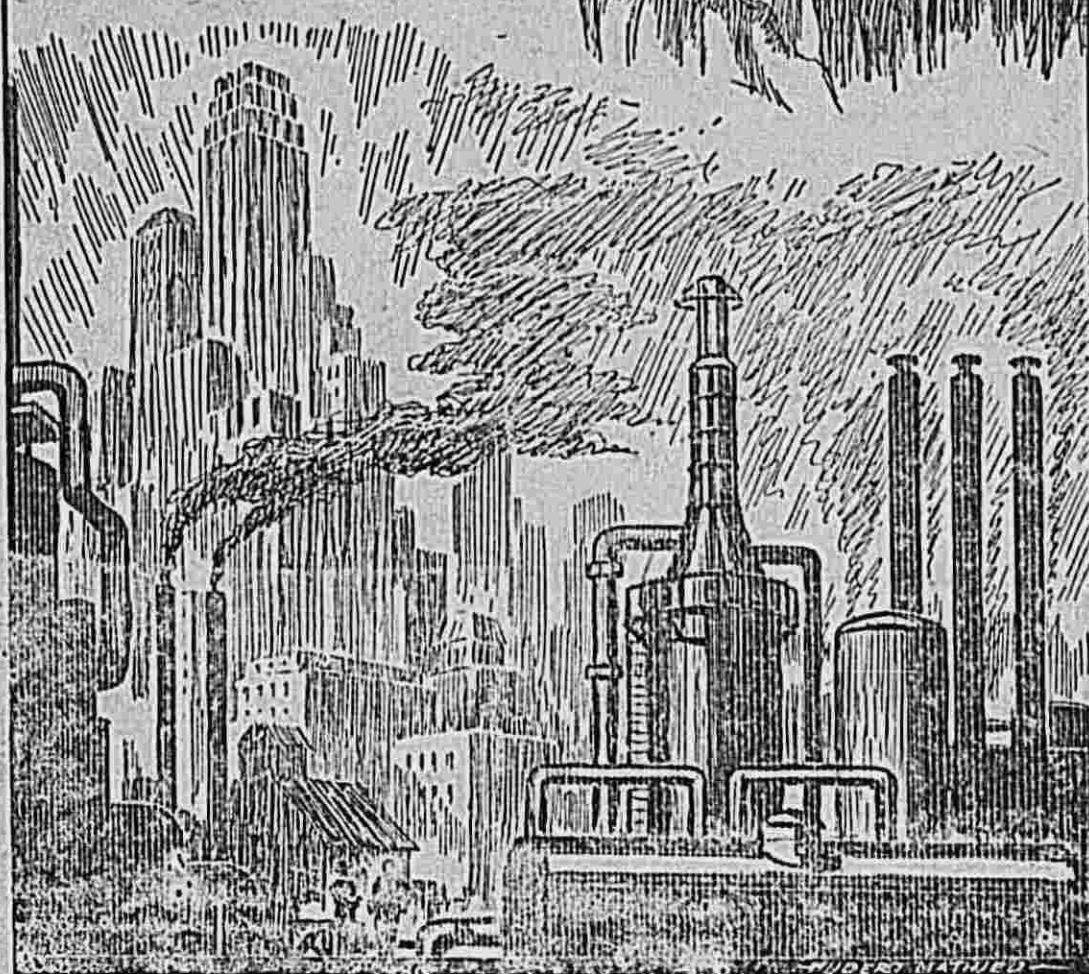

"An education that increases knowledge and develops the intellect but fails to strengthen the character may lead to disappointment and ultimate failure."

"Life can be continuously thrilling when we constantly search for knowledge and truth, and when we make it a continuous experiment in social responsibility and a continuous adventure in religious living."

Grade School Conference To Resume Action Friday

The Northern Lake County Grade School Conference will resume action Friday night after the Thanksgiving vacation.

The three games for Friday night are as follows: Antioch at Lake Villa, Allendale at Grayslake, Gurnee at Fox Lake, Round Lake, open date.

Allendale Whips Wauconda The Allendale Tigers made it two in a row by defeating Wauconda Grade School, 37 to 16, in what proved to be a rough and tumble battle. A total of 49 fouls were called and Wauconda was forced to play the last four minutes of the game with only three men on the floor.

Allendale's scoring twins, Bert Heuer and Bob Seymour again lead the Allendale attack with 18 and 10 points respectively.

The Allendale Juniors lost a hard fought battle to the Wauconda lightweights 25 to 23. Smith lead Wauconda with 8 points and Armand Heck spearheaded the losers with 8 points.

Tests at Counter Lead To Wise Buying, Fabric Expert Advises Women

Urbana—Wise buying of fabrics for home sewing is an aid to your budget and the serviceability of the garment you plan to sew. "Give the shopping problem some thought before you start," says Miss Florence King, clothing specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Ask yourself these questions before you buy, Miss King suggests: What type of fabric do I want for the use I plan to make of it? Do I want it to wear a long time or only a short time? Will it get hard wear or relatively light wear? Is it to be laundered or dry cleaned?

A few simple "over-the-counter" tests can be made to judge the quality of the material. One is the test for yarn slippage. When the yarns in a fabric shift easily, a small amount of wear may be expected. The fabric may pull out at seams, tucks, and darts. Pulled areas may be formed in any part of the garment where there is strain.

To test for yarn slippage, place a corner or edge of the fabric between the thumb and forefinger of each hand, with the thumbs on the top side and the tips 1/4 to 1/2 inch apart. Exert a steady pressure on the area between the thumbs. If the yarns slide or shift easily, the fabric is not likely to wear long.

A test for starch filling can also be made at the counter. Some fabrics carry an excessive amount. When they are laundered or dry cleaned, the filling is removed. This leaves a material much lighter in weight and having a porous appearance.

To test for an excessive amount of starch filling, rub a corner of the material between the hands as though you were laundering it. See whether starch rubs out. The limpness of the area, in comparison to the unrubbed fabric, will indicate what to expect of the material after it has been washed or dry cleaned and the filling removed.

Upholstering Have your worn out living room furniture rebuilt, it will be better than what you can buy now and cost less. Samples of covering and estimate on request. All loose joints will be reglued and all new inside material used. TELEPHONE 187-M. A. L. Samson 280 East North Ave.
